Graduate Studies provides broad oversight of eighty-three graduate units (4500 students/year) awarding all graduate and professional degrees and certificates with the exception of Anderson degrees, J.D., M.D., Pharm.D, DNP, and DPT. However, Graduate Studies collaborates with all programs for policy concerns and dual degree programs. On average, 210 doctoral degrees, 890 masters degrees, 22 MFA, and 30 graduate certificates are awarded annually. Over $30 million in assistantships are processed annually. Graduate Studies works with the Senate Graduate & Professional Committee on all matters regarding policy. (http://facgovapp.unm.edu/committee.php?comm=18)

Library (OILS) 2%
Nursing 3%
Fine Arts 3%
Arch + Plan 4%
Public Admin 5%
Health Sciences 7%
Anderson 13%
Arts & Sciences 27%
Water Resources 1%
Pharmacy (MS, PhD) < 1%
Engineering 14%
Education 21%

Based on Fall, 2013 headcount and rounded to integer percentage (excludes JD, MD, PharmD, DNP, DPT)

Application Update
A seamless, online graduate application will be in place mid-semester. The application will allow graduate students to upload all their documents required for application. Meanwhile, reviewers will have access to the application through AppReview where applications can be sorted, reviewed, and scored.

See and submit graduate student spotlights on our homepage!

Resources/Support
Graduate Resource Center (unmgrc.unm.edu)
Graduate Student Funding Initiative (research.unm.edu/graduatefunding)
Project for NM Graduates of Color (pnmgc.unm.edu)
Academic Integrity & Research Ethics (grad.unm.edu/aire)
Teaching Assistant Resource Center (grad.unm.edu/resources/tarc.html)

Excellence Assistantships and Success Awards
Excellence: $1.5 million is distributed annually to the colleges/schools based on previous fall headcount. Beginning Fall, 2014, Excellence Assistantships will be awarded one year at a time, encouraging faculty to leverage other funding sources.

Success Awards (also distributed to colleges based on headcount) are for students with financial need completing their final semester of graduate work.