ENGAGED PEDAGOGY GRADUATE FELLOWSHIP

What is the EPGF?
The Engaged Pedagogy Graduate Fellowship is a semester-long community-based learning (CBL) graduate training program that promotes excellence in undergraduate teaching and graduate student professional development. Through the EPGF, a select number of graduate students participate in a series of skill-building workshops that introduce the foundations of engaged pedagogy, course design and program assessment.

EPGF Fellows will:
- Work with a cross-campus interdisciplinary cohort
- Develop their own course syllabus
- Collaborate with Community Partners
- Present their work
  Receive a $500 stipend upon completion of the fellowship.
