The Department of Native American Studies (NAS) is seeking a TEACHING ASSISTANT for NATV 1150: INTRODUCTION TO NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES for the 2021-2022 academic year. Apply by September 15, 2021.

The Teaching Assistant (TA) will work 10 hours a week for NAS at .25FTE percent appointment, for 10 months. Salary depends on classification, and includes a tuition waiver up to 6 hours.

NAS is looking for a TA who understands and can navigate UNM Learn very well, who is interested in supporting students in their learning and with technical support, who can support NAS faculty in grading and other class activities, facilitate students’ learning, and interact with students.

The TA will work with NAS faculty in the ONLINE section of NATV 1150: Introduction to Native American Studies and the Face-to-Face NATV 1150: Introduction to Native American Studies course in the Fall 2021 and Spring 2022 semesters.

Start date for position: September 20, 2021

Who is eligible: Graduate students who have demonstrated an interest in Native American Studies are eligible for the position. Organizational skills are a plus; basic computer skills are required; some teaching experience and/or online course experience preferred. Graduate students who are currently or will be enrolled for a minimum of six hours in approved courses in the Fall, have a 3.0 grade point average, and be within the time limit for degree completion are encouraged to apply.

NOTE: Out-of-state students awarded TAs are eligible for the resident tuition rate provided the FTE is 25% or higher and they hold the assistantship for at least one-half of the semester. The tuition waiver may only be used for courses approved by the graduate program in which the student is currently enrolled.

How to apply: applicants should submit a letter of interest, a two-page CV, and the names and contact information for two references. The letter of interest should address the following: Reason(s) for wanting to work with NAS; any prior participation in NAS events or courses; background (including coursework or research) in Native Studies; online teaching experience or online coursework you have taken; computer proficiency and organizational skills; experience working in diverse settings and multi-tasking. Please include both telephone number and e-mail contact information. Preference will be given for those with a demonstrated interest in Native/Indigenous Studies.

Applications are being accepted now through September 15, 2021. Send all materials to Dr. Tiffany S. Lee, NAS Chair, via email: tslee@unm.edu
