Now that you have defended...

...it is time to make sure your manuscript formatting is correct.

HINT! Include formatting considerations when writing manuscript.

Formatting Guidelines

- Page setup (sections, margins, spacing, font, etc.)
- Front Matter
- Body Text
- Reference Matter
- Hybrid Thesis/Dissertation Notes
- Accessibility Requirements
- Multimodal Thesis/Dissertation Note

Quick Announcement

We have new and improved formatting guides on our website! These can be found on our Manuscript Templates page.

These have helpful details for making sure you meet UNM's manuscript formatting requirements.

Page Setup

- Sections
 - Set up sections prior to writing (helps with page numbering!)
 - Minimum of two sections recommended
 - Front Matter
 - Body and references
 - Each Chapter may have its own section – take care to update page numbers in each section
- Margins
 - 1" all around
 - 1.25" or 1.5" allowed on the left only if wanted for binding
- Spacing
 - Double or 1.5 line spacing for text
 - This is for paragraph text, like acknowledgements, abstract text, or body text
 - Spacing on title page, figure captions, references, etc. can be different (follow style guide for references)
 - Must be consistent throughout your manuscript, including front matter

- Page Numbers
 - Bottom Center or Top Right Corner
 - Front Matter requires lower-case Roman numerals (i, ii, iii, etc.)
 - Body text and reference materials require Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, etc.)
- Font
 - 12pt. font in text, headings at least 12 pt. and up to 14pt.
 - Make sure headings and subheadings are distinct
 - Use style settings – it helps with accessibility!
 - Professional style (e.g., Arial, Times, Courier, Helvetica)
 - Must be consistent throughout your manuscript
 - Font sets the mood (next slide)

List of Figures/Tables

- List of Figures and/or List of Tables are line items in the TOC
- Separate page(s) each immediately following the TOC
- Include these two lists alphabetically (List of Figures and then List of Tables)
 - The lists themselves should be in order of figures'/tables' appearance in the manuscript
- Other list or statements (acronyms, glossary, terms, etc.) included after Tables, and each on a separate

That ends the front matter!

Reminder and recommendation: See the templates and samples on our website for detailed guidance when preparing the manuscript.

The front matter is the most common area for which revisions are requested.

Body Text

- Begins on Arabic number page number 1 with first major section, typically the introduction
- Chapters do not need to be numbered (keep formatting of chapter headings consistent!)
 - If using chapter number, the introduction section may include a chapter number or not include a chapter number
- Spacing is consistent
- Font is consistent
- Margins are consistent
- Reference matter is at the end, after the body
 - Appendices
 - References (Works Cited, Bibliography) – very last section!

Formatting Figures

Quick note: Having a heading or subheading on one page and the text it heads on another page is an orphaned header. Check for orphaned headers and move them to the same page as the text they head!

- May include diagrams, charts, drawings, photographs, etc.
- Should be inserted as near as possible to the referring text
- Should be numbered consecutively
- Label and captions should follow style guide requirements but must be distinct from main text (format consistently!)
- Figures and their captions must appear on the same page (common issue)
 - Large image? Place on own page.
- May not exceed the margins
- Add alt text to the images for accessibility requirements

Heading 2

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet consectetur adipiscing elit. Quisque faucibus ex sapien vitae pellentesque sem placerat. In id cursus mi pretium tellus dui convallis. Tempus leo eu aenean sed diam urna tempor. Pulvinar vivamus fringilla lacus nec metus bibendum egestas. Iaculis massa nisl malesuada lacinia integer nunc posuere. In Figure 1.1, ut hendrerit semper vel class aptent taciti sociosqu. Ad litora torquent per conubia nostra inceptos himenaeos.

Heading 3

← Move to the next page with the text it heads

Tables

- Place immediately following the referring text or on next page
- May run more than one page
 - Strong recommendation: make sure labels/captions and headings are on same page of first data row (easier to follow)
- Should be numbered consecutively
- Label and captions should follow style guide requirements but must be distinct from main text (format consistently!)
- Labels and captions must be on the same page as the table
- May not exceed the margins
- Landscape may be used, if necessary, and must remain within the margins (keep page number location consistent)

Heading 2

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet consectetur adipiscing elit. Quisque faucibus ex sapien vitae pellentesque sem placerat. In id cursus mi pretium tellus dui convallis. In Table 1.1, tempus leo eu aenean sed diam urna tempor. Pulvinar vivamus fringilla lacus nec metus bibendum egestas. Iaculis massa nisl malesuada lacinia integer nunc posuere.

Table 1.1 - Table description or label

Heading	Heading	Heading	Heading
4.5	12.7	4.08	21
6.8	22	3.7	12.36
9.2	13.5	5.92	6.39
5.3	8.36	8	14

Accessibility hint: Avoid tables is not absolutely needed. If using, clearly label headings.

Appendices and Other Reference Matter

This is the second to last section of the manuscript and may include:

- Appendices
 - Consequential material but material that is not needed in the body of the text, e.g., the survey form used when collecting data
 - Material in the appendices must be referenced in the text
 - Appendices are lettered, not numbered, e.g., Appendix A, Appendix B
 - If there is only one, you simply have an Appendix
- Other list or reference items may be placed here instead of after the List of Figures and/or List of Tables
 - Acronyms
 - Glossary
 - Terms
 - Nomenclature
 - Symbols
 - Notes on Text

List of References

- The absolute FINAL section of the manuscript
- Follow your discipline's style guide
- Collect and list all references at the end
 - May use subheadings to break up by chapters
- May be variously labeled as:
 - List of References
 - References Cited
 - Works Cited
 - Bibliography

Hybrid Thesis/Dissertation Notes

- Some programs utilize the hybrid option, which is a collection of articles in a single manuscript
- List just yourself as the author on the title page, abstract, and submission details in the repository
- The manuscript cannot be a combined PDF of the published articles – the manuscript must be formatted per UNM requirements
- If there were additional authors for any of the articles, you may add an authors note at the start of that chapter/section or in the front matter if it applies to all sections
- There are two options for references
 - You may include them at the end of each chapter/section
 - You may also duplicate them at the end in a final references section
 - You may include them all in a references section at the end of the manuscript
 - You may use subheadings to break the references up by chapter/section if doing this

Final Check: Accessibility Requirements

In accordance with federal guidelines, all manuscripts must meet ADA accessibility requirements.

This helps make UNM publications more inclusive and supports a more diverse readership's access to theses and dissertations. Your work can reach a wider audience!

Fall 2026 Pending Grads: Accessibility Recommendation

It is highly recommended that dissertation and thesis manuscripts pass the Adobe Acrobat accessibility checker.

Final step of preparing your manuscript for submission:

- Use the document to create a PDF, run the accessibility checker, and fix any accessibility issues.

Visit the Formatting Guidelines page on the Graduate Studies website for more details.

- If we identify additional areas for support, we will add more resources.

Spring 2027 Pending Grads and Forward: Accessibility Requirements

Dissertation and thesis manuscripts must pass the Adobe Acrobat accessibility checker.

- Manuscripts will not be approved without passing this check, and approval of manuscripts is required for graduation.
- Important note: This is required for students who missed the November 15 fall graduation deadline and are graduating under courtesy for spring.

Final step of preparing your manuscript for submission:

- Use the document to create a PDF, run the accessibility checker, and fix any accessibility issues.

Visit the Formatting Guidelines page on the Graduate Studies website for more details.

- If we identify additional areas for support, we will add more resources.

Multimodal Dissertation Note

- There is a multimodal option for doctoral students
- Policy definition:
 - A “multimodal” dissertation may take any digital or media format defined by the graduate unit to be consistent with the audience, purpose, content, and context for scholarly communication. Such formats may include but are not limited to the following: websites, databases, digital archives, media files, or catalogues. Multimodal elements could include video, sound recordings, animation, or other modes not specified here.
- This is rarely used and must meet the academic standards of a dissertation
- If your dissertation is multimodal, please contact Graduate Studies for formatting support
